Died—1935

IN MEMORIUM

Dr. Cyrus Maxwell Boger was the son of Professor Cyrus and Isabelle Maxwell Boger. He received his early education in the public school of Lebanon, Pa, and graduated from the Philadelphia College of Medicine. He later on studied at the Hahnemann Homœopathic College in Philadelphia and qualified himself as a homœopath.

Dr. Boger became widely known through a large number of learned contributions to homœopathic literature. His authorship of several scientific textbooks, his repertory construction, translation of several medical books from notable German authors and his indefatigable labour in research works—Provings of Samarskite, Times of the Remedies, Moon Phases, Synoptic Key of Materia Medica, etc., made him universally recognised as an author of considerable eminence.

His vast knowledge of the homœopathic science, his comprehension of homœopathic philosophy and materia medica and his ability in prescribing were thoroughly exhibited and he is rightly looked upon as having attained a position in the knowledge and art of homœopathic practice that few ever occupied.

Dr. Boger aged 74, passed away on 2nd. September, 1935, after an illness lasting two weeks. The demise of this hoary-headed physician has brought to the followers of Hahnemann a deep sense of irreparable loss.

FOREWARD

"The Times of the Remedies" was mainly based upon Dr. Boger's own practical observations and long clinical experience. He was of opinion that the particular time when a medicine manifests its full therapeutic action is often of decisive importance. This compilation is made out with the object of elucidating and facilitating a reference to this factor, in selecting the similimum.

The portion devoted to "aggravations" and "ameliorations" is a translation from an article which originally appeared in The Zeitschrift des Berliner Vereines Homœopathischer Aerzte (Vol. XXV). Subsequently it was thoroughly revised and enlarged by the learned author.

Dr. Boger has emphasised the importance of "time-factor" and the "Moon-Phases" in the action of a drug. It is rather a new method of application of remedies developed from an extensive research work, carried on by this indefatigable worker in the cause of advancement of the homœopathic science and it is due to his tireless energy and hard work that a new angle of vision in prescribing medicines has been brought about.

The learned author could not complete his experiments, as his valuable life was cut short by the cruel hands of Death, and he has left his great work to the present day Homœopaths, to be developed fully and thereby to fulfil the cherished desires of his life.

We trust this unique publication may prove a useful reference table in the hands of the conscientious prescriber.

INTRODUCTION.

The table of Moon Phases consists of an enumeration of the times, at which a particularly successful prescription has been made; thereby accentuating the importance of the time period in which the remedy has been found more useful. It has taken some time to compile this list. It was done in this way. When I made a successful or striking prescription and the patient came in later and said, "Doctor, I never had anything help me as much as that in my life", I wrote down carefully the date of the prescription. These dates were collected and located in the phase of the moon, first quarter, full moon, last quarter, or new moon.

This research was undertaken to find out whether there was anything in this question of times of remedies as related to phases of the moon. I believe this is the way we ought to go at all questions.

If you will take your Repertory and look at the remedies which are mentioned in the rubric under full moon, or new moon, or whatever phase of the moon it is, you will find almost no resemblance to this chart. It does not take very long to discover a few things from this chart, as you will see by looking at it. From the very start of the investigation I found that Phosphorus led all remedies in the number of observations. So that the accusation that my friend Dr. Macfarlan made that I am a Phosphorus fiend is perhaps true. But there are a good many homœopaths who are Phosphorus fiends, I think. Then I discovered that Phosphorus was closely followed by Arsenic. If you will look over the chart carefully you will see that Phosphorus covers fifty-one squares of the full moon. This is the highest number of squares covered. Those were fifty-one successful prescriptions prescribed in the week of the full moon, and the next most prominent is in the last quarter which shows a decline.

Now if you will turn to Arsenic, you will find the highest number in the first quarter. It stops abruptly in the quarter of the full moon, and falls off then to the lowest point.

If you will look through these tables in this way, you will find that there is a connection running through the whole thing.

How are we going to apply these results in practice? That is what we are getting down to. When a new patient comes in to you, you ask him, "When are you worst?" "Well, I was worst in the middle of last week." "Is that about when you are usually worst?" "Yes, about that time."

Open up your almanac and see what quarter the moon was in, then look down your list of remedies and see which remedies are most prominent in that quarter. It is not invariable. You may not make an absolutely accurate prescription but it will be an enormous help.

MOON PHASES.

The following extracts from a letter by Dr. Boger throws more light on the subject:—

The Moon Phases refers exclusively to cured cases and was undertaken in order to determine the relative standing of the remedies in this respect. Very little has heretofore been done along this line. The results are entirely clinical and are to be valued as symptoms belonging to the drug according to the number of confirmations obtained. As one can see Phosphorus shows the most decisive result in this respect. So that now I look upon the full moon as pointing strongly, but not exclusively to this drug; the other symptoms in a given case must accord with the choice, or it is not a Phosphorus case. In other words, the moon table is a strong confirmatory symptom evaluator in the final decision, as to the remedy to be chosen. One can almost use it to start the search for the similimum.

As the table grows the different drugs are automatically taking their correct positions in the table. I am giving here a very recent illustration. A frail child was attacked with whooping cough, which in a few days suddenly developed in a violent pleurisy. Such cases are very dangerous both soon and eventually. Therefore there was nothing to do but to find the exact similimum at once; this proved to be Lycopodium which most happily aborted the whole thing in a few hours; the trouble passed away fully with the advent of a prodigious sweat. With this fine result I was justified in adding one more point to Lycopodium in the table showing the last quarter: but when all of the figures in the other three phases under Lycopodium are compared, the last quarter does not stand out, so prominently after all, but when many such results are added to the scheme, it will most certainly show which is the predominant time phase of its action and that counts for much.

That is the way the table has been made up, from my daily work, my records and a few well-marked ones in the journals. Obviously these can not be traced to their sources just now, but in the main, the prescriptions have been made in the usual homœopathic way and determining their moon date in a new procedure which I am glad to say is showing good and exclusive results in quite a large number of remedies.

Materia Medica

BY

AD. VON LIPPE, M.D.

This world-renowned Text-Book of Materia Medica is indispensable for Students and Practitioners. The work has been thoroughly revised and augmented. All the well-proved and confirmed symptoms of nearly 300 Remedies of our Materia Medica, including those of the Nosodes and the Tissue Remedies, have been dealt with.

Dr. Lippe's name and fame travelled all over the world. He was considered by all to be a master of Homœopathic Materia Medica and was one of the illustrious pioneers of homœopathy of earlier days.

The book is replete with the characteristic and most prominent guiding symptoms of the best proved and most used drugs of our Materia Medica. The book stood as a monument of thoroughness and precision in the past and will be found to be such by all of the present generation.

Comparative Materia Medica

BY

E. A. FARRINGTON, M. D.

No homœopathic prescriber or student can possibly dispense with this book. Over three hundred of our well-proved and chief Remedies have been compared in that masterly style for which the author is immortal.

Confusion at the bedside is often encountered when clinical manifestations of different remedies are simultaneously visible. A careful reading of this work by the late Dr. E. A. Farrington, widely known for his teaching capabilities as the Senior Professor of the Hahnemann Medical College of Philadelphia, U.S.A., will greatly facilitate the selection of the right similimum.

Lesser Writings

WITH

Therapeutic Hints

BY
E. A. FARRINGTON, M.D.

(Collection of scholarly contributions.)

No prescriber and no student of Homœopathy can do without it. Besides many important therapeutic hints, the chapters on the treatment of some of the most prevalent diseases, viz. intermittent fever, malarial cachexia, rickets, chronic catarrh of the nose, pain and weakness in lumbosacral region, headache (occipital), peritonitis and laceration of cervix uteri are quite unique. The discussions and suggestions on the 'totality of symptoms', 'Boeninghausen's modalities' and on various other scientific matters are quite instructive and the 'syllabus of Materia Medica' in the form of questions and answers, comprising over 26 pages, sets forth the most prominent group of symptoms of some of the frequently indicated medicines, in every-day practice.
